

didn't like it a bit. She says "I told you I wanted a revolver and I wanted the kind" -- did you have the word revolver? Don't use it, because an automatic pistol is not a revolver.

Q This is not a revolver, this is an automatic pistol?

A Yes; but Mrs. Stevens wanted a revolver. She was so kind of put out that I hadn't gotten a revolver and I didn't pay any attention to it, that it's never been used, never been fired and it was put away in a drawer and never used.

Q You never owned a revolver or automatic before, had you?

A Not for 25 years. The last revolver that I owned was way back in 1901, I had an old fashioned Colt which I gave away to a fellow in Roselle years and years ago, 25 years ago, 24 or 25 years ago I gave that away; that is the last time; I have never fired an automatic pistol in my life.

Q Mr. Stevens, you were familiar, or rather much more familiar with rifles, weren't you?

A Shot guns have been my specialty.

Q And that is due to your prior experience or employment with the Remington Arms?

A Yes, and I demonstrated shot guns for the Remington Arms
